DETAILED ACTION

This is office action is in response to applicant's request for continued examination filed on October 23, 2009.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114.

Status of Claims

Amendment of claim 112 is acknowledged.

Claims 112-131 are currently pending and are the subject of this Office Action.

Claims 124-131 were withdrawn from consideration as being directed to a non-elected invention in the reply filed on July 23, 2009.

Claims 112-123 are presently under examination.

Priority

The present application is a 371 of PCT/EP04/11645 filed on 10/15/2004.

Should applicant desire to obtain the benefit of foreign priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d) prior to declaration of an interference, a certified English translation of the foreign application must be submitted in reply to this action. 37 CFR 41.154(b) and 41.202(e).

Failure to provide a certified translation may result in no benefit being accorded for the non-English application.

Restrictions/Elections

Since the generic formula of claim 112 is so broad, and in order to expedite prosecution, a new restriction/election requirement is issued before examination can be further prosecuted.

New Restriction for claims 112-123

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

This application contains claims 112-123 directed to patentably distinct inventions, NOT species; wherein each Invention corresponds to each one of the specifically claimed core compounds encompassed by formula I:

These different core compounds lack unity of invention because the core compounds have no substantial structural similarities although they have a common utility. In re Harnisch, 631 F.2d 716, 206 USPQ 300 (CCPA 1980); and Ex parte Hozumi, 3 USPQ2d 1059 (Bd. Pat. App. & Int. 1984). For example, the following core structures which are encompassed by the formula I above are structurally different:

Or

Or

Thus, applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the invention, i.e. a more narrow and focus core structure, like for example the ones depicted above, consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. The definitions for the general structure I in claim 1 are so broad that the overall structures encompassed by these substituents are so enormous and so diverse that they belong to different inventions, as shown above. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

In summary, applicant should elect ONE CORE like for example the ones depicted above or any other CORE consistent with general formula I of claim 1. Applicant should note that selection of ONE COMMON CORE is for RESTRICTION purposes. Once a common core has been elected, applicant will be further required to elect one specific chemical compound having that core.

The inventions listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the technical feature of each one of the above inventions relates to a different core structure and/or a different group of diseases. These inventions, as there is no technical relationship involving the same or a common technical feature, cannot be recognized as being linked with each other so as to form a single general inventive concept.

New Elections for claims 112-123

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows: once an invention corresponding to a specific CORE structure was elected, applicant is further required to elect a single disclosed species within that core. Specifically, applicant is required to define each ring substituent with a particular species (a species definition like methyl, not a genus definition like alkyl). Electing a compound that is not specifically disclosed as filed may be considered new matter.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: they are structurally different compounds, which depending on the substituents could belong to different classes and sub-classes and require different search queries.

Inventorship Notice

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
